

After two years of success, Association for international Arbitration (AIA) is proud to announce the third edition of its European Mediation Training for Practitioners of Justice (EMTPJ). AIA initiated the EMTPJ project in the year 2010, with the support of the European commission and in collaboration with the HUB University of Brussels, Belgium and Warwick University, United Kingdom. It marked the first time since the passage of the EU Directive on Mediation that professionals from around the world have been brought together to be trained as a new class of mediators.

EMTPJ is recognized by the Belgian Federal Mediation Commission according to the Belgian Law of February 21, 2005 and the decision of February 1, 2007 concerning the settlement of the conditions and the procedure for the recognition of training institutes and of trainings for recognized mediators. The EMTPJ course is unique because its ultimate goal is to enhance and integrate the different mediation cultures of the EU member states into one, legally sound method of international dispute resolution. It brings together attendees from all over the world, creating a multinational and multicultural environment that fosters exchange of different perspectives, experiences and gives possibility to form a genuine international mediation outlook. Upon successful completion of the EMTPJ course, students may apply for accreditation at mediation centers worldwide.

EMTPJ 2012 is a two-week training program that will take place this year from 3rd to 15th of September. In line with previous training courses, the EMTPJ 2012 program aims to introduce and promote the concept of European mediators in civil and commercial matters.
